successors of this defunct John Brown. Are we threatened by any of our sister States? Is any one of them arming or founding armories to prepare for an attack upon us? I believe not. Peace is in all our borders and around us. We only have our partisan quarrels—irac, integratio amorie—such as many other happy families have. An armory is not necessary, then, to repel any anticipated attack from other States. Let those who plot against the integrity of the Constitution take themselves out of the Union if they can. IMPORTANT DISCOVERY-REPRODUCTION OF

INTENDED ABDICATION OF THE AUSTRIAN EN-PEROR.—A foreign correspondent says: A piece of news so extraordinary has reached the high political circles of Peeth, that it is not without hesitation I venture to communicate it, and yet these circles have excellent means of ob-taining the earliest information. The news is that the Emperor of Austria contemplates ab-dicating the crown in favor of his son, a child born the 21st of August, 1858, and appointing as Regent, his brother, the Archduke Maxi-milian, formerly Governor of Lombardo-Venitia. The reason assigned for the pro-jected abdication is, that the Emperor sees with dismay that Austria is going to wreck and ruin, and shrinks from the risk of figur-ing personally in history as the last of the

MACAULAY'S AMBITION AND CONVESSATION .--

The London Athenous has the following statements in an article on the burial of Macaulay: "Lord Macaulay's ambition was to stand in the same rank with Hume. If a publisher's balance sheet proved anything, his rank would be far higher than that of Hume. The Mesare. Longman have paid to him the revenues of a prince. We have heard, on the best authority, of one single sheek from publishers to historian for £20,0001 of one single check from publishers to historian for £20,0001

"As a table-talker, Lord Macaulay had a reputation most peculiar. He was not witty, like Jerrold, nor humorous, like Smith, nor poetical, like Moore, nor dreamy, like Coleridge. He was narrative. He was the troubadour of dining-rooms, whe charmed the company with noble speech while they cracked the nuts and passed the wine. In his conversation, often as it took the form of monelogue, there was no indication of arrogance on his part, or of desire to monopelize the attention of everybody. The stream welled forth out of the fullness of his mind and prodigious memory. A quick and fertile intellect got excifed by the appleause of auditors and by the vivacity of its own elequence. When he lancked into any subject there was no hope of arresting his voyage, nor any wish to do so. He would begin with the remotest beginnings of the tople—just as he begins his History of the Reign of James the Second with the Phemicians—would gather strength and substance as he went on—would pick up illustration here and there from men and from books, leaving no corner for objection to fasten on, no opportunity for reply. There seemed no reason why the discourse should ever cease; no more than for the Thames to run dry or Time to pause. The talk had somothing of Milton's organ-roll, and was only to be closed by Milton's organ-stop. It was not vivacious, so much as flowing, suggestive, and sonorously poetical. It was like his Essays and his Lays—as a lady described it to her friend—it was all print. Thus, though his reputation for conversational opulence was great, few of his print. Thus, though his reputation for conversational opulence was great, few of his sayings are abroad, or will survive the personal recollections of his friends."

DESPERATE ATTEMPT TO BREAK JAIL.—An attempt was made by two prisoners in the House of Correction at Lawronce, Mass., on Monday, to escape. Their names are Orlando Rockwood and James W. Reynelds. They escaped from their cell by means of placing a nail under the latch of the door before it was fastened, which prevented it from catching, and afterward hooking a cord to the handle of the boil by manipulating it with the iron bail of their bucket. They then proceeded to an outer room, where Mr. Poor, the DESPREATE ATTEMPT TO BREAK JAIL. coeded to an outer room, where Mr. Poor, the keeper, slept, and violently assaulted him, striking him upon the head with a bludgeon so forcibly that he was for a moment rendered unconscious. They then attempted to choke him, when Mr. Poor railled, and in the strength of desperation, he drove the ruffians back to their cell before assistance arrived.

EFFECTS OF AN EARTHQUAKE IN ENGLAND The English papers give an account of an earthquake felt in Yorkshire County on the 15th of December, between the hours of two and three o'clock, on a bright cloudless moraing. The noise and vibratory motion aroused and alarmed great numbers of the sleeping innabitants. The shock was distinctly felt over an area of more than 200 square miles. Some miners were at work at the moment on Grassington-moor, sixty fathoms or 370 feet beneath the surface, and 200 fathoms from the opening to the day. Those men heard distinctly the noise attending the shock, and mistook it for the falling in of the mine.

A FUNERAL JEST.—A negro wag at New Orleans, the other day, engaged twenty-one carriages to go to a funeral. The train of carriages slowly wended its way to a church. No one at the church had heard of a funeral. The negro tried to get away, but did not succeed. He then induced the funeral cortege to move on to a cometery; no funeral there. The procession returned to Canal-street, and the victimised Jehus proceeded to hold an inquest upon him. He ran, hid in a dry goods store, and was protected till a constable took charge of him. harge of him.

AN UNFORTUNATE AFFAIR—A BRAUTIFUL WIFE RUINED.—The Chicago Herald says that a few days since a beautiful wife of that city—the mother of three daughters—hithesto courted and respected, and moving in the first circles of society—has permitted herself to become the victim of one who had been honored with the confidence of both herself and her husband. The affair has been discovered and the faithless wife discarded, but the seducer still lives. the seducer still lives.

HORRIBLE DEATH OF AN INVALID. - A colored man named Moore, residing near New York, was found in his room, lying with his head in the fire-place the other evening. He had been sick for four months, and his wife having gone out for some medicine, saw him as above stated on her return, his head being almost roasted. It is supposed that he got out almost roasted. It is supposed that he got out of bed for some purpose, and falling from weakness was unable to help himself, and thus expired.

A REMARKABLE PAIR.—A reliable citizen of South Scituate, Mass., mentions the following remarkable fact: Simeon Pincin and wife were each born on the 22d day of the same menth; they were married on the 22d day of the same month; and both died on the 22d day of the same menth; and the aggregate ages of both was just 200 years to a day. IRCHMEN OF LOCOMOTIVE SPEED.—J. B. Ward, of Lynchburg, Va., claims an inventure by which he can greatly increase the motive power and accelerate the speed of locomotive. This is done by lengthening the crank and giving greater length of stroke to the piston-rod. The machinery works well in miniature. INCREASE OF LOCOMOTIVE SPEED .- J.

A ROMANTIO RUNAWAY IN CONNECTIOUS .-The Stamford Advocate gives these particulars of a runsway wife at that place, which has been the topic of conversation among scandal ingers for some days:

"A few weeks since a young and beautiful girl took up her residence in that town, and entered the High School as a pupil. Everygirl took up her residence in that town, and entered the High School as a pupil. Everybody, especially the young men, were curious to know who the young stranger was, and where she came from; but with all the ingentity invented on such occasions, the interested once were completely baffied in their efforts to ascertain her place of residence. A few days since, however, a gentleman from New York made his appearance and claimed the fair incognition as his lawful wife. The husband insisted on taking his wife with him, but the lady resisted his importantizes, and kept her person beyond his reach. Hereupon the gentleman became more violent in his demonstrations, and would probably have recorted to foreible means to coerce the return of the lady, but for the arrival of her brother. Two men met at the Stamford House on Friday last, when an excited colloquy ensued, during which the husband indulged in remarks derogatory to the character of his wife and her family. These remarks were followed by a blow from the fist of the brother, which laid the disconsolate husband at full length on the marble floor. The spectators here interfered, and prevented any further demonstrations of this character. Ou the following morning the brother and sister took passage on the ears for New York, whither they were followed by the haffied but not yet deepairing husband. Further than this deponent sayeth not."

Transme Inundation in Cyprus.—A letter from Nicosia, in the Island of Cyprus, gives an account of a terrible inundation which recently took place there: "The weather became cloudy, the wind blew with violence, and the thunder and lightning were most violent. At moon the rain began to fall in torrents, and in a short time after the river overflowed its banks. The inhabitants not having time to shut the gates, the water rushed in with fearful impetuosity, and inundated the town. The bassar soon had six feet of water in it, and, to add to the mistortune, the gate at the end of the town opposite to where the water had rushed in became closed, and there being thus no outlet for the torrent, nearly every house of the town opposite to where the water had rushed in became closed, and there being thus no outlet for the torrent, nearly every house was soon filled. Toward evening the gate gave way, and the water began gradually to subside. No fewer than 47 houses and 150 shops were undermined and fell, and 4 men, 11 women and a child perished beneath the union. Considerable interval was done to the Il women and a child perioded bendeat the ruins. Considerable injury was done to the merchandise in the bezarr. A WOMAN HANGS HEREELF ON JOHN BROWN'S

Accours.—A lady, residing near the village of Hunt's Hollow, in Lexington County, N. Y., hung herself a few ago under peculiar circumstances. The Buffalo Expressanys:

She had been an attentive peruser of all procurable newspaper information relative to the execution of John Brown, and her mind had been as of the state of the execution of John Brown, and her mind had been as of the state of the execution of John Brown, and her mind had been as for the state of the stat and become so far infatuated thereby as to lead had become so far infattated thereby as to read her to experiment, for the purpose of ascer-taining the kind of physical sensation attend-ant upon banging. Her first effort resulted fatally. On a certain morning she was seen to ascend to the chambers, by her mother, who was engaged below. Shortly after, the latter wishing her assistance in some demestic matters, approached the stairway, and called matters, approached the stairway, and called her by name. The failure of a reply, after several repetitions of the call, led to an investigation, which resulted in the discovery of her lifeless corpse, suspended from the rafters of the chamber she had entered. allowed time to decide whether he will adhere to that purpose; if he persists, imprisonment may be the consequence.

The New York Heraid's correspondent says: The city has been wild with rejoicing during the night over the election of a Speaker. It is participated in by all parties who have suffered more or less, financially, in the delay of organisation. Speaker Pennington, and Messrs. Sherman and Hickman were serenaded, at Willard's, by Wither's band, accompanied PIKE'S OPERA HOUSE, CINCINSATI.

WE OFFER TO THE PUBLIC THE Whoeler & Wilson Sewing Machine, with important improvements, and to meet the demand for a good, low-priced Family Machine, have introduced a REW STYLE, working upon the same principle, and making the same stitch, though not so righly finished, at $1 FTY-FIVE BOLLARS.

The elegance, speed, noiselessness and simplicity of the Machine, the beauty and strength of stitch, being ALIKE ON BOTH SIDES, impossible to ravel, and leaving no chain or rigs on the under side, the conomy of thread and adaptability to the thickest or thinnest fabrics, has rendered this the most successful and popular Family Sewing Machine now made. made.
At our various offices we sell at New Tork prices, and give instructions free of charge, to enable per-chasers to sew ordinary seams, bem, fell, quilt, gather, bind and took, all on the same machine, and warrant it for three years.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY—REPRODUCTION OF CYSTERS.—The Americain, of Brest, states that the system of M. Coste for the reproduction of cysters has just been tried by Captain LeRoy, of the French navy, in a large pend filled with salt water, at the head of the Bay of Poulmic. On the 15th of July last, he had one hundred and fifty mother cysters, which had been dredged on the bank of St. Marc, placed in this pond, and on the 25th he had a number of planks and bushes placed so as to collect the spawn. A short time after the Captain had some cysters dredged at Tregorvan, which, from their bad quality, were not considered fit for use. These he had placed in the Bay of Poulmie, a short distance from the shore. On the lifteenth of November an examination of the bed formed in the salt water pend was made, and the results were HENRY DAVID, No. 278 MAIN-STREET.

WHICH I WILL SELL CHEAPER than any other establishment in the city or West, country and city. Merchants and druggists will find it to their interest to call and examine my stock before purchasing elsewhere. 128 an examination of the bed formed in the salt water pond was made, and the results were found most satisfactory. To the planks and branches placed there, a number of young cysters were attached, some of them nearly half an inch in diameter. Those of bad quality, which had been placed in the bay, had, from the removal, completely changed their nature, and had become excellent for use.
